

Master Practitioner Testimonials

When I started on NLP Practitioner with PPD Learning I had vague notions of career transition. By the time I finished my Masters with PPDL I was running my own successful company and living my dream!

PPDL offers a depth of understanding and knowledge of NLP through incredible training, amazingly talented trainers and individual coaching that rightly marks it out as a Master in the field.

Many thanks to Judith and her exquisite knowledge of the human psyche!

Jules Peck, JP Solutions, Coaching & Training

“The PPD Learning NLP Master Practitioner programme gave me the tools, perspective and developing wisdom to understand and address classes of real world business and interpersonal problems that had previously seemed intractable.

A profound, balanced, companionable exploration from the deepest roots to the treetops of NLP – guided with wit and charm by the very best in the business. Fantastic...thanks PPD”

Martin Crossley, Senior Manager, Orange

“If you want others to change, change yourself first+. How humbling and how true. I stumbled on NLP by accident as I searched for help to make sense of my dysfunctional clinical team. A brief 30 minute coaching session reframed my thinking, changed my behaviour and convinced me I needed the skills the coach had used to help me.

My journey through practitioner training gave me flexibility to change myself and tools to begin to help others. Learning with enthusiastic people from many different backgrounds was a healing and generative experience.

I was hooked. The opportunity to learn more and to learn under the guidance of such masters as Robert Dilts, Judith DeLozier and Charles Faulkner was too good to miss. Through Master Practitioner training I gained confidence and skill to go deeper and work with the beliefs and values of colleagues and patients.

Supporting individuals to change has become a pleasure and a privilege. And best of all it can be a simple brief intervention, as part of a conversation, or within the constraints of a clinical consultation. Now that is magic!

Thank you, Judith and all at PPD Learning, for laying the stepping stones of learning before me one at a time and for making the journey such pure delight.+

Nanas Callander, Consultant Clinician

The Master Practitioner programme provided the question that unlocked the opportunity for my first £100k development grant from a premier commercial company. Since then I have negotiated a £500K award with the DTI & a blue chip industrial partner.+

David Evans, PhD. Software Engineer & Professional Coach Aston University

“PPD Offer 6 months that can change your life completely, the vast array of experience that the course offers was superb from trainers and assistants alike. It is a wonderful journey of which certification is just one of the results. The course does exactly what it says on the tin, it is the ULTIMATE master practitioner, thank you”

Ben Grassby, Analyst, Higher Education Funding Council England

'As a busy head Teacher, I am always extremely mindful that any professional development I undertake must have a direct and profound effect on our whole school improvement.

I could never have anticipated the overwhelming impact that the training I received from PPD Learning would have. Our school has gone from strength to strength and NLP is established in many different ways to enhance the learning opportunities taking place.

PPD proved themselves to be a caring, professional organisation, who use trainers and assistants of the highest calibre. They cater for the needs of the individual and I would recommend them unreservedly for anybody's NLP training needs.

Thank you to all at PPD!+

Mel Tatley, Head Teacher, Underwood CE Primary School.

“Judith Lowe is one of the most vibrant and visionary people I know. She is a superb trainer and brings a special energy and passion into everything she does. Her style incorporates a marvelous balance of confidence, compassion and humor complemented by impressive competence and skill

As importantly, Judith is committed to the deep principles and core values of NLP. She is one of those rare people that truly ‘walks the talk’ of NLP and consistently updates her own skills and provides leading edge developments for her students.

I also deeply admire her selfless devotion to her students and community. It is a pleasure to wholeheartedly endorse Judith and her training.”

Robert Dilts